Dear friends and colleagues,

I have been asked to give another online workshop on eurythmy therapy; here are the details. I hope you can join us.

Warm regards,
Marc-Antoine Brodeur

Practice oriented online workshop for Doctors and Therapists

12 Eurythmy Therapy 'Soul' Exercises

Why take this course?

Eurythmy is an essential therapy in anthroposophical medicine. It brings patients rejuvenating forces and directed healing for their individual condition. These 12 exercises stand apart in Rudolf Steiner's eurythmy therapy course because they are very accessible to patients, directly effective, and can be applied in everyday situations. This 5-session online course will be practice oriented and will help you to understand and learn the exercises.

In this course, you will:

- Learn how the exercises work and how to apply them safely and effectively
- Gain confidence in using eurythmy as one of your therapy options
- Develop the capacity to demonstrate exercises to patients
- Learn to adapt the exercises for various physical and psychosomatic illnesses
- Expand and deepen your work in anthroposophical medicine

In order to integrate the exercises, plan to practice ten minutes a day between workshops. At the end of each 75 minute training session there will be an optional 30 minute coaching period where you can receive personal feedback on the exercises; during this time all participants will be welcome to observe, share and practice.

You will receive a practical handout outlining the exercises and their applications, as well as a certificate of participation.

TESTIMONIALS

"Marc-Antoine's communications skills, enthusiasm and depth of understanding are able to transcend on-line limitations to a remarkable degree. I have been amazed by the intensity of his therapeutic presence, combined with a light touch of humour, and by my own motivation to follow his guidance in detail."

Dr. med. James Dyson, UK

"I have had the pleasure and delight to work together with Marc-Antoine Brodeur in numerous seminars and workshops over the years. His combination of depth, humour, and professionalism, combined with his ability to allow participants to embody in movement aspects of spiritual scientific wisdom is second to none."

Dr. Simon Kuttner, Psychotherapist, Israel

"Marc-Antoine is an experienced eurythmy therapist who bridges the contents of the seminars with eurythmy in a very authentic and enlivening way."

Dr. med. Gabrielle Förster, Germany
